COUNTY OF PHILADELPHIA	:

MICHAEL LENNON being duly sworn according to law deposes and says:

1. On September 8, 2002 I was employed by J.H. Stevedoring Co. as a ship boss in connection with the discharge of cargo from the M/V Morraborg while that ship was berthed at Pier 80 South in the Port of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

2. At the time Mr. Revak was injured late in the afternoon on September 8, 2002, I was in the No. 2 tween deck of the M/V Morraborg observing cargo operations. I watched the discharge of the draft in question (the one in which one of the cargo slings parted) from the time it was hooked up to the spreader by the longshoremen in the cargo hold, until it cleared the bulkhead of the ship and went out over the pier.

3. At no time did I see any portion of the draft, or any cargo sling that was being used to lift the draft, make any contact with any portion of the ship during the discharge process. If any of the cargo slings lifting the draft had been pinched against any portion of the ship while the draft was being lifted out of the cargo hold, I would have seen it. However, at no time did I see any sling in the draft in question pinched between the draft and any portion of the ship while it was being lifted out of the cargo hold.
